School of Community Education & Development
Hourly Rate: $32.94
Competition #: 14.113
Review Date: October 6, 2014

The School of Community Education and Development is looking for qualified individuals to instruct on a casual basis in the "HomeSmart" Program. The broad goal of the program is to provide Yukon First Nation and non-First Nation communities with resources, skills, and tools to increase the social resilience of children and families living in deficient housing in rural and isolated settings.

Training modules will address such subjects as: basic home maintenance and repair; use, storage, and disposal of hazardous household materials and equipment; household cleaning; family nutrition and food preparation; child safety; interpersonal and inter-generational dynamics in confined spaces; fire safety; housing and community health; household finances; and renter rights and responsibilities.

Subject matter will be customized to meet the needs of individual communities and will be taught to adults in a classroom/workshop setting, usually over a five-day period.

Applicants should have relevant education and experience. Previous experience working with aboriginal governments, organizations and/or communities would be considered an asset.
