1945 News from the Whitehorse Star

DAWSONITES LIBERATED BY U.S. FORCES IN THE PHILIPINES

Provost Marshal-General Leech wired from Washington, D.C. on February 21 to Mr. and Mrs. Murdock McCuish in Dawson, Y. T. informing them that their son John and his wife Virginia, had been released by the U.S. Forces from the Japanese internment camp at Santo Tomas, Luzon Island in the Philippines.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCuish were on Mindanao Island when the Japanese captured the Philippines and managed to evade capture for about two years by hiding in the hills before they were forced to surrender.

The Whitehorse Star, Friday, March 2, 1945*Harbottle Family Coll./Yukon Archives*

1920 - Lieut. Crumrine's airplane from "The Alaska Flying Exp." His chronic tire problems were fixed by Whitehorse resident Bert Peterson of the White Pass.

FIRST AIRCRAFT

Whitehorse Paved the Way for Aviation in the North.

For a history of aviation in the Yukon Territory we have to go back to June, 1920, when Capt. H.T. Douglas of the U.S. Air Force and Capt. H.A. Leroyer of the Canadian Air Board arrived in Whitehorse to talk over a proposed international aeroplane flight from Mineola, N.Y. to Nome Alaska. They both came with the authority of their respective governments to make all necessary arrangements for landing places, fuel, supplies, etc. In commenting on the proposed flight the Whitehorse STAR of that day described it as "an event that will go down in history as one of the most daring conceptions of the potentialities of aerial flight that has ever been conceived since the possibilities of a lighter-than-air craft as a means of transportation became, through the inventive genius of man, a certainty."

Development of a (3) Year Education, Comprehensive Strategy

Selkirk First Nation is inviting consultants to submit an expression of interest to develop a 3-year Education & Training, Comprehensive Strategic Plan.

This strategic plan would form the foundation of a funding proposal to be written and submitted by the consultant on behalf of the Selkirk First Nation.

The Selkirk First Nation objectives are as follows:

- To develop and/or recommend a database that will track the following information:
 - Citizens' employment history;
 - Citizens' training history;
 - Citizens' education;
- Coordinate the implementation and population of the database
- Develop a Comprehensive Education and Training Strategy:
 - To assess the current Program and determine best strategy, including a labour market analysis;
 - To identify and determine the potential of a Trades Program;
 - To determine how employment opportunities in the Government of Selkirk First Nation, the community, the traditional territory, and Yukon can be increased through training;
 - To develop an evidence-based proposal for long-term funding.
 - To develop a policy which includes Trades that is related to a Comprehensive Strategy clearly indicating the process; targeted training strategy and database development.

To be considered for this contract, the consultant will need to provide the following:

- Evidence of qualifications, experience and competence in performing the scope of work;
- A schedule of the key work activities and deliverables for the development of the strategic plan and proposal writing;
- An outline of the methodology proposed to undertake the project, including consultation methods and an outline of key factors to be considered; and
- Fee amount, including proposed rates to be charged, expenses and taxes.

Project is set to begin April 15, 2020.
Deadline for submissions is:

LIQUOR VOTE SET FOR JUNE 23

All Yukon residents, 19 years and up, will be asked to answer this question on Monday, June 23: "Are you in favour of lowering the legal age for the consumption of alcoholic beverages from 21 years to 19 years of age?"

Commissioner James Smith announced the date and terms of the plebiscite this morning. It is believed to be the first time in Canada that underage voters will have had an opportunity to express their opinions on a question which directly affected them.

There will be no enumeration of voters, and no voters list compiled for the plebiscite, which will be conducted by Federal Returning Officer Harold J. MacDonald of Whitehorse. Instead, each voter will swear an affidavit that they are of the full age of 19 and they were ordinarily resident in the Yukon Territory on March 20, 1969. This was the date on which Yukon Territorial Council approved the idea of the plebiscite being held.

Moose Calf 'Adopts' Man as its Mother

Curt Mintz huddled in the bush with his two dogs for 20 minutes waiting for the cow moose to attack.

“There’s no way you can come between a cow and a calf and live,” Mintz said in an interview Monday. “I’d rather meet a grizzly.”

But there was no attack.

Instead, Mintz became the adopted mother to a three-day-old female moose calf that now lives at the Yukon Game Farm on the Takhini Hot Springs Road.

Mintz came upon the moose on June 2 while strolling through the woods about four kilometres from his cabin on the Alaska Highway near Whitehorse.

“I heard it first, and I thought it was a bear, so I just dived down and grabbed the two dogs and held them.

“I knew whatever it was didn’t hear me, ‘cause it was making too much noise.

“When I saw it was calf sitting there, I was more worried. I thought, ‘I came between a cow and a calf, I’m in really big trouble,’ I stayed down there for about 20 minutes.

“I circled around the thing and saw it was a calf moose. So then I snuck up on it and within 10 feet, it heard me. It started crying just like a little baby.”

That’s when he realized it was alone.

The Whitehorse Star, June 20, 1990

The calf was probably a twin and left behind by its mother, Mintz said. If the mother had been shot, he said, the calf would have stayed with the mother and the hunters would have gotten it.

“It wouldn’t have lasted overnight. There’s no doubt about it. It’s like Grand Central Station out there for coyotes.”

He stroked the calf, grabbed it, put it on his shoulders and marched four kilometres back to his cabin with it.

“After about maybe an hour or two, it figured I was its mother. If I walked away from it, it would start crying.”

The calf wasn’t afraid of people, he said.

“There was no fright in it whatsoever.” It liked his dogs, his friend’s cat, and gave his guests big moose-lip kisses.

It would cry to eat, lay down, and go outside because it wanted Mintz to be closer to it.

It was three days old, so it couldn’t follow him far. It would walk for a while, then stop and cry when Mintz continued.

“I entertained thoughts at one point in time of keeping it,” Mintz said. But he decided it would be better for the moose if it went to the game farm. Danny Nowlan, owner of the Yukon Game Far, is an old friend of Mintz’s father.

“It was quite hungry. In fact, it was on the verge of starvation. It should be (fed) goats’ milk, but I wasn’t really to hip on raising a baby moose.”

It’s drinking goat’s milk now at the farm. In fact, the farm has a goat just to feed the moose. A sort of wet-nurse of the animal kingdom.

Nowlan has had a bull moose for about 10 years, said Mintz, and he hasn’t be able to find a cow.

So, this could be the beginning of a Yukon moose family bred in captivity.
