BABE SOUTHWICK - February 1965. Babe's racing number 8 was aside, not be used again.

BABE SOUTHWICK: YUKON SPIRIT

In February, 1965, a well-known Yukoner, Babe Southwick, burst into Whitehorse with her Destruction Bay dog team to enter the Sourdough Rendezvous dog races. A beautiful, boisterous, 40-year-old woman wearing a parka and mukluks, she added colorful joviality to the festivities.

Babe Southwick was one of the pioneer Dickson clan which lived along the shores of Kluane Lake long before the Alaska Highway pushed its way past their doors. Her father Tom came to the Yukon as a mountie during the Klondike Gold rush, married her mother Louise, then left the force to go trapping and raise a family. He was one of the Yukon's first big game outfitters.

That night at the Yukon Dog Musher's Association meeting Babe drew the number eight starting position. Friday morning, the first day of the three days of racing, her well trained team disappeared in a cloud of whirling snow, making good time on the 14.3-mile trail. Running just over an hour, the Southwick team finished the first day's race in the top five. As usual she took care of her dogs after the race, then walked with her sister, Belle, to her hotel where Babe retired from activities.

Two hours later she was rushed to Whitehorse General Hospital where she was pronounced dead. The doctor said it was a heart attack, but none of the family knew she had such a condition, and they didn't know whether Babe herself knew.

SILENT TRIBUTE

The news spread rapidly through Whitehorse and a pall hung over the Rendezvous festivities but it was decided to carry on.

Speaking to the crowd of several thousand gathered along the bank of the Yukon River, J.B. Fitzgerald, Game Director for Yukon, said in part: "... Babe was a real Yukoner and a member of the highly respected Dickson family. She was an experienced musher and competed successfully in a good number of sled dog races. She was vice-president of the Yukon Dog Musher's Association and contributed very much to it and was highly respected by all members of the organization.

"She leaves behind a great host of friends...Ladies and gentlemen, we will now observe one minute's silence in memory of Babe..."

Ten dog drivers lined up at the starting gate, each with an arm band of black. With bowed heads and tear stained faces they stood through the silence observed by the crowd as the Southwick team sat silently in their harness nearby. Babe's racing number, 8, was then withdrawn.

In the crowd watching the races that year and meeting Yukoners for the first time, was the editor of The Edmonton JOURNAL, Andrew Snaddon and his wife Jocelyn. They were impressed with the Yukon Sourdough Rendezvous and the welcome they'd received from Yukoners. Profoundly moved by Babe's death, and desiring to do something, the Snaddons convinced the Journal (despite the newspapers policy of not giving trophies) to donate the BABE SOUTHWICK MEMORIAL TROPHY. Inspired by "Mrs. Southwick's great spirit and high reputation" it was to be awarded to the team with the fastest lap of the three heats. Although no prize money is attached to the winning of the Babe Southwick trophy, it remains the award most dog drivers desire.

Babe Southwick personified the spirit and intent of the original Rendezvous. It was a gathering of friends and relatives after a long cold winter. It was a time for stories to be swapped and old acquaintances re-affirmed. These were not professional racers, just tough, hardy Yukoner's with working teams. They were in town for a good time, and racing for the sheer fun of it.

When Babe died that first day of Rendezvous, Friday, February 26, 1965, one minute of silence the next day gave time for remembrance. Now, 35 years later the Babe Southwick Memorial Trophy allows us to remember a true Yukon spirit. And that's why there's no number 8 in the Yukon Sourdough Rendezvous dog races.

Start Flats Move

Removal of buildings from squatter areas in Whitehorse is to commence at once. Northern affairs and territorial officials made the announcement today.

The first step will be moving all buildings not being used for residential purposes. Areas involved include Crown land on Whiskey Flats, Moccasin Flats, Sleepy Hollow, West of Eighth Avenue and on the Two Mile.

The government will move these buildings without charge at the request of the owners to privately owned or leased land anywhere within a 10- miles radius of the city.

The free move applies only to buildings which meet the standards of the area to which they are to be moved.

Detailed information concerning the proposed move is available at Room 306 in the federal building.

The government spokesmen said residential buildings will be moved at a later date.

Initial announcement of the program for clearing these areas was made prior to the Lot 19 plebiscite. At that time the government indicated it intended to remove buildings from the various squatter areas where Crown land was involved.

Territorial subdivisions to which buildings may now be moved, if they meet the standards, include Crestview at Mile 923 and Canyon Crescent at Mile 912. Seventy-five new lots will be available at Porter Creek upon completion of the plan of survey which is expected to be finished very soon.

A transient area, where land may be leased, is being cleared now North of the Two Mile Hill. Minimum standards will apply there, commensurate with health and sanitation requirements. It is expected to be open in early summer, dependent upon securing a good water supply.

DAWSONITES LIBERATED BY U.S. FORCES IN THE PHILIPPINES

Provost Marshal-General Leech wired from Washington, D.C. on February 21 to Mr. and Mrs. McDuck McCuish in Dawson, Y. T. informing them that their son John and his wife Virginia, had been released by the U.S. Forces from the Japanese internment camp at Santo Tomas, Luzon Island in the Philippines.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCuish were on Mindanao Island when the Japanese captured the Philippines and managed to evade capture for about two years by hiding in the hills before they were forced to surrender.

A Freak Snowslide

Everybody in this section of Yukon Territory and in Posey County, Missouri, knows Mr. J.P. Whitney of Whitney & Pedlar. (He always says, “You’ll have to show me!”) Mr. Whitney has ever been up-to-date in his efforts to make White Horse a modern city with fire-proof buildings, wider streets and plenty of sidewalks. Last November he conceived the idea of adding an extra chimney to his big building and, regardless of freezing weather, engaged a man to do the work. The chimney was built in symmetrical form but, owing to the fact that the weather was not propitious, the mortar failed to stick to the bricks, and become frigid and wholly at home with itself.

Previous to the building of the chimney Mr. Whitney had dug a well on the side of the building where the new chimney was erected and this was covered over with boards.

Last Monday ended the checkered career of the new chimney. A large mass of snow had accumulated behind the smoke avenue and on that day decided to move to terra firma. On its way down it picked up the chimney and the whole landed on top of the covering over the well. The boards were light and snow, bricks and mortar went through to the bottom, nothing remaining except the cavity through which it all passed.

Mr. Whitney will rebuild his chimney, but he will not do it in cold weather, and is now giving out the story that he has the only well in the Yukon Territory with a chimney in it.

The FIRST WHITEHORSE BIG BAND

HOME GROWN BAND

For the first time in the history of Whitehorse, music for her annual celebration will be furnished this year entirely by home talent, our own silver cornet band of eighteen pieces.

While R. Unsworth is really the father of the Whitehorse Band, he having raised the money with which the first instruments were purchased a year or more ago, it was not until J.P. Whitney stepped forward from darkness into light and was persuaded to “work up his lip” and take the leadership, that the band was ever in reality an organization.

ICE-AGE HORSE FOUND IN DAWSON

Horse remains found near Dawson City are 26,000 years old.

Carbon-dating an Ice Age horse's remains found by placer miners this fall shows the animal is more than long in the tooth - the Yukon Ass is 26,000 years old.

The dark chestnut brown hide is complete with blonde mane and tail, and a right fore-leg with the flesh remaining. They were dug out of the muck layer just above the gold-bearing gravels.

As well, a scapula, humerus, and stomach contents were recovered from the Last Chance Creek site near Dawson City.

"We're very excited. This is a very significant find in terms of understanding Ice Age animals, and it gives us a window into life in the Ice Age," Yukon government archeologist Ruth Gotthardt said in an interview this week.

For example, artists' depictions have shown the small horse as having short manes and tails, but this animal had a long mane and tail and beautiful coat, she said.

The hide is being cleaned and freeze-dried so it can be preserved and displayed.

Gotthardt pulled the remains of the pleistocene horse from the muck wall in September. "I've never been so happy digging something up."

The remains were so well-preserved that intestinal membranes are distinguishable, complete with fresh dung. And it smelled strongly of dead horse, even though the animal died 26,000 years ago, she added.

"We collected enough dung for specialists in botanical fossils and pollen to see what these animals ate."

This is significant because the flora during this slightly-warm glacial period is the source of much scientific debate.

As well, parasites on the hide or in the dung can be studied, and DNA tests of the soft tissue could show how closely-related these animals are to the modern horse.

Plans are in the making for archeologists to return to the site and see if any more remains can be found, or if there are any other animals preserved there.

Lee Olynk and Ron Toews made the find, and called the heritage branch because they suspected it was significant.

They knew the ground they were working well, and realized there was no mine shaft or other disturbance to account for the horse having been placed there recently, said Gotthardt.

She stressed the importance of cooperation with the mining industry in making and preserving these pieces of history.

The remains are the best-preserved examples of an Ice Age animal found in North America, she said. A black-footed ferret, part of a steppe bison, and Arctic ground squirrels have also been found mummified.

Chances of finding an animal from the past in the flesh are remote, because a unique set of circumstances are necessary to preserve the flesh. As well, they are buried 20 metres deep, and heavy equipment and a good measure of luck are need to unearth them.

Gotthardt speculates that the horse may have died in the creek, as the site is an old creek bed. An overhanging bank may then have collapsed on top of it, cutting off oxygen and preventing decomposition.

The Yukon offers the best paleontological record for late Ice Age animals because it was not glaciated in this period. The Dawson and Old Crow areas have provided the most specimens.

IMPORTANT UNEARTHING - The specimens found near Dawson City have been described as the best of their kind discovered in North America. Yukon government photo.

2020 Mosquito Control Program

The City of Whitehorse is proceeding with the 2020 Mosquito Control Program, larval surveying and monitoring as early as 13 April 2020, depending on weather conditions. The goal of the annual control program is to reduce adult mosquito annoyance for residents and visitors. Experience from past programs has proven that the best way to achieve this is through effective control of larval mosquito populations.

Control of larval mosquito populations will be completed as required, and where necessary, throughout the season on the basis of mosquito population surveillance. Larvicide applications will be made using aerial (helicopter) and ground-based, hand-broadcast methods. Control program operations will extend throughout the summer until mid-August.

Larval development occurs with water accumulations from snowmelt and precipitation in depressions and established ponds. Permanent water bodies include stagnant ponds, marshes, non-flowing ditches, depressions and any other natural or man-made containers, which can hold water for several weeks or months. Left unchecked, mosquito larvae will complete their development to adult and be of annoyance. For this reason, control program efforts are focused on the identification and treatment of developing mosquito larvae using the biological larvicide VectoBac 200G which contains the heat-killed bacterium, Bacillus thuringiensis var. israelensis (Bti). This bacterium is specific in its control of mosquitoes and biting flies. It does not reproduce in the environment and has no effect on non-target insects, fish birds or mammals, including humans, livestock and pets. All applications will be directed to infested mosquito development habitat located within, and adjacent to the City of Whitehorse.

Residents can reduce the likelihood of mosquito bites by eliminating mosquito development sources around their property and by using personal protection methods. Regular draining and refilling of wading pools, livestock watering troughs, tires, bird baths and emptying of tarped boats, canoes or wheelbarrows reduce sources of potential mosquito development. Filling of depressions such as tire ruts, borrow pits and excavations prevents water accumulations and the creation of larval mosquito habitat.

While the larval mosquito control program will reduce overall mosquito populations, residents and visitors should still be prepared to protect themselves from adult mosquitos. Ensure window screens are in good condition, and wear loose, light coloured clothing. Be aware of outdoor activities near landscaped areas, marshes, ponds, lake margins and forested or overgrown areas where adult mosquitos may rest; as well as using perfumed skin care products, shampoos and consider using repellents.

The firm responsible for managing control program operations is Duka Environmental Services Ltd., an environmental services firm with over 25 years of providing these specialized services to the Yukon. All mosquito larvicide applications would be completed under the approved conditions of Pesticide Use/Service Permit # 21-004. For more information on mosquitos, the control program or VectoBac 200G please visit www.duka.consulting or www.valentbiosciences.com. You can also leave a message for the mosquito control program biologist at City of Whitehorse offices, locally through the 'BITE' line 633-2483, or directly with Duka Ltd. at 1-604-881-4565 or at 1-800-681-3472. Biologists will follow up with a telephone call and on-site property inspection where required.

THE KLONDIKE HOCKEY TEAM at Dey's Rink in Ottawa, January 14, 1905.

A CONSIGNMENT OF HOCKEY JUNK

It's not often a local hockey team has a chance to vie for the Stanley Cup, but it happened one time in Yukon history and the results of the contest make it probable that it will never happen again.

Hockey was big in the Klondike in 1904, and the competition so fierce that local promoters of the sport were looking for bigger and greater challenges. With the typical Yukon "if you're going to go for it, you might as well go for the top" attitude, Dawson organizers wrote to Ottawa challenging the World Champions to a Stanley Cup duel. The challenge was accepted.

The Klondike team sallied forth from Dawson to do battle with the Ottawa Invincibles, also known as "The Silver Seven."

Ottawa Hockey Team Won First Game of Series by Score of 9-2. The Dawson Hockey team went down in overwhelming defeat before the Ottawa Invincibles by a score of 23-2 in the second.

Liquor Tax Is Imposed By Government

An Ordinance to provide for Government control and sale of alcoholic liquors replaces the old Liquor Ordinance and the Beer Ordinance.

Changes made are that all licensed premises, beer taverns and cocktail lounges must close between the hours of 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. daily. Provision is also made to allow establishments operating a beer parlour or tavern and also serving meals, provided the establishment is 25 miles from the limits of a municipality, to serve beer with meals up to two bottles per person.

A tax of 10¢ per dozen bottles of beer, 10¢ per bottle of wine, 10¢ per flask of liquor and 25¢ per bottle of liquor will be imposed to provide funds for education and recreational projects.

It is expected that $10,000 annually will be derived in this manner for the use of recreational or other desirable projects such as civic centres, etc.

POLL TAX

Payable by all males eighteen years or over except if they have had residence in the Yukon Territory for one year immediately prior to January 1st of the year in which the tax is imposed. This requires one year's residence in Yukon from January 1st to December 31st.
