Whitehorse Fire Damage. Six men salvaging what they can from the ashes of the May 23, 1905 fire.

WHITEHORSE SWEEP BY FIRE

Whitehorse was swept by fire early this morning and is now a mass of blackened smoking ruins. Loss $300,000.

The single fire engine at a critical moment gave out, and quickly the best part of the city became involved in ruin.

The fire takes the city, extending from the post office to the telegraph office and crossing the tracks, sweeping the railroad, the White Pass depot, three of the best hotels and dozens of the smaller buildings.

THE 'DISCOVERY WELL'

Little was it thought when the original "Discovery Well" was drilled in 1928 in the Fort Norman area that, through the exigencies of war, the oil that flowed from there would be piped to Whitehorse, a distance of 595 miles, and refined here. The transportation of men and equipment over a road more than a thousand miles long was one of the major obstacles encountered and overcome. Camps, warehouses and platforms were constructed and pre-fabricated, barges, tugs assembled and Camp Canol was established.

In June 1942 the U.S. Engineer troops arrived in Waterways, a small frontier town northeast of Edmonton, and the men of the navigation system in Norman Wells on the Mackenzie River. By the summer of 1943 the water system had been well established, in the meantime another route from Dawson Creek, B.C. to Whitehorse on the Alaska Highway had been opened. This pioneer road was completed in November 1942 and converted into an all-weather military highway by October 1943.

As the transportation systems came into operation crews started from Whitehorse and Norman Wells to construct the Canol access road at both ends. This road was completed in December 31, 1943 and in the following February (1944) the first weld was made in the 595-mile pipeline. On April 30, 1944 the official opening of the refinery was fittingly commemorated.

NEW FLAG FLIES

Canada's new flag is flying over Whitehorse tonight, following a simple 10-minute ceremony outside the RCMP barracks at noon which was watched by a few hundred spectators.

Snow was falling as the Union Jack came down and the scarlet-and-white ensign was hoisted in its place. RCMP Staff-Sgt. W.A. Coombs headed the flag party. Commissioner Gordon Cameron and numerous local dignitaries were among the listeners as the Rev. Harold Marston, president of the Whitehorse Ministerial Association, and Bishop Coudert both spoke briefly in a dedication ceremony.

About 150 local school-children took time off to attend the event. It was all over in 10 minutes, and the crowd dispersed quietly, leaving the new flag fluttering in a drizzle of snowflakes.

Only two people stood and watched as another flag was raised simultaneously outside the federal building. Earlier this morning, it also flew over the Whitehorse General Hospital.

What's going to happen to all those old Union Jacks? No official word on their fate was available this afternoon.
